

List of Supervisors

2018

In the Uniting Church in Australia, the goal of supervision is understood as the continuing enhancement of ministry in a context of trust and openness by means of a relationship of mutual accountability that focuses on actual ministry experiences.

The Supervisors listed in this document have been recommended by UCA ministers in placement in the Synod of NSW/ACT. The information about each supervisor has been provided by the Supervisors themselves and all have agreed to be included. Ministers and leaders who are looking for supervision need to contact a potential Supervisor directly for more information and to negotiate an initial meeting.

The Assembly document, Professional Supervision: a process of reflection on ministry experience is available for download on the Assembly website at:
http://assembly.uca.org.au/images/stories/About/MEC/Professional\_Supervision\_Dec2011-\_FINAL\_ROHAN.pdf

It also includes a Supervision Covenant which needs to be completed and submitted to the Presbytery PRC.

Supervisory Framework:	More than anything I am prepared to sit down and listen to how you want to use your supervisor time and tailor it to your needs in order for your supervision time to be effective for you.  I use a systems approach to supervision. I consider people to be part of a system affected by aspects like the denominational context, the institutional context, the people with which they are working, the community they are working in etc. I seek to look at how people are affected by and interact with elements of the system.
Qualifications:	B.Th. CPE, Advanced CPE, Uniting Church trained supervisor Experienced a variety of models of supervision and supervisors Significant experience of the church as a lay and ordained person in a variety of places and contexts  Interests in ministry include educational processes, children and young people, intergenerational ministry, pastoral care, relating to people in the wider community and the ongoing formation and growth of ministers and lay people.

Supervisory Framework:	I view supervision as a safe place where two people walk a journey together and at times struggle with issues that are difficult and sometimes unanswerable. It is a place where one is supported on the journey and where one can struggle or rest with the unanswerable issues if need be.  My approach is a reflective and companion and sometimes mentoring style. Perhaps somewhat eclectic in form. I come from a trade background followed by 25 years in pastoral ministry with 15 of those involving various chaplaincy roles.

Supervisory Framework:	Supervision is educational and enables the client to take time out from their daily work practice to support them in their personal and professional growth and development. It provides a time to attend and reflect on issues and circumstances that influence and impact their daily work, relationships and life in general.  As a Supervisor I assist clients to become more effective at their profession by providing an environment for them to learn various ways of becoming more self-aware and being a more effective practitioner. Clients are supported by being fully present with them and employing an experiential action-reflection learning model to support the individual's transformative learning. Verbatims, journaling & reflective conversation are used to support the client to become a more self-directive learner. Using highly effective listening tools, I "metaphorically" hold a mirror for the client to see themselves more clearly which enables them to better understand their particular circumstance. Clients are supported to become more effective in time management, personal development, grief & loss, transition, conflict management, issues of abuse, caring for the carer, trauma, group dynamics & the journey of life and faith.
Qualifications:	Accredited Supervisor through the Australasian Association of Supervision as well as the Uniting Church in Australia; 15 years' experience as a Supervisor; BTh MTh DMin.

Supervisory Framework:	Supervision is the gift of time, space and relationship that is made available to enhance the supervisee's awareness of opportunities and challenges arising from ministry and life as that impacts on the practice of ministry. On this basis my approach is to encourage persons to take responsibility for their own learning and to assist in that by using a variety of techniques to prepare for and open up conversations during a supervision session. Recognising that people have different personalities and learning styles I am committed to attending to people as individuals and to adapt the style and content of sessions appropriately. My basic approach is conversational and gently enquiring while being open to the silences in which helpful insights mature.
Qualifications:	BA B.Th. BLegS GAICD and the NSW Synod supervisor training program. National accredited mediator.

Supervisory Framework:	Ministry supervision includes the role of the minister's relationship to God. Supervision encourages the minister to reflect on their relationships and experiences in light of biblical stories and truths. It is also a process for accountability and creates an environment for further learning as the minister's experiences are explored and evaluated.  I believe that much can be learnt from "sitting at the feet of our work" (Zachary, 2002: xv).  I see my supervisor role as one first off to listen and be attentive, to offer the supervisee a chance to review their work. With the benefit of hindsight and reflection, tease out and explore issues, to ask how they might have handled the situation differently. For further reflection ask if there is a bible story or verse that relates to them and ask where is God in this situation. As the supervisor is helping the supervisee learn from their work it may be helpful to ask what they have learnt from reflecting.
Qualifications:	In 2017 I completed the Uniting Church in Australia's training course to provide pastoral supervision for those exercising ministry within and for the Uniting Church.  In 1998 I completed my B.Th. at Uniting Theology College, commissioned as Community Minister in 2002 at The Mustardseed Ultimo Uniting Church, 2009 Ordained as MOW at Mustardseed Ultimo Uniting Church. Retired 2015.  Now a retired minister with 20 years of ministerial practice I feel I have valuable experience not only in pastoral care but also in the corporate world, to equip me for the role of supervisor. For the last 10 years I've been a member of Sydney Presbytery's Pastoral Relations Committee and the deputy chair of the committee for a number of years. I've been practicing as a supervisor for the last two years and would welcome one or two other clients as I feel it's a way I can serve God and the wider church.

Supervisory Framework:	Underpinning my practice is the belief that people's experiences, particularly those that are uncomfortable and disorientating can be the basis for personal, emotional and spiritual learning and transformation. My understanding comes through personal experience and from studies in theology, supervisory practice, teaching theory, various nursing strands and science.  I have a passion for teaching and supporting people to grow in personal awareness, facilitating their coming alive to insights and learning which enhances their professional and pastoral selves.  I am enthusiastic about working with people who are keen to learn about their own practice, who desire personal and professional understanding, and who expect their supervisor to accompany them on that journey.  I currently take pleasure working with practitioners from pastoral practice, pastoral management, the homelessness sector, education and nursing practice, either in individual or peer group supervision.

Supervisory Framework:	With the aim of helping ministers to be better ministers, I seek to facilitate the growth and self-awareness of the individual to reach their best potential particularly within their vocation. It is my aim to provide a confidential context for a person to question, reflect upon or talk through significant or every day relationships and events within ministry. I seek to hold a supervisee accountable for their self-awareness, growth, actions and behaviour thereby encouraging them to become the best they can be as a ministry agent and as a person.
Qualifications:	16 years of congregational ministry; personal experience of supervision and its benefits; many years of mentoring others.

Supervisory Framework:	A reflective and narrative form of supervision is offered in a safe, confidential environment; an invitation to strengthen self-awareness, develop personal gifts and to facilitate reflection on issues affecting ministry and pastoral relationships.  An early career in education, together with many years of listening to peoples' personal stories, has taught me the value of intentional listening. Qualities of discernment and intuition also inform my professional supervision practice. As an Interplay leader I am open to creative forms of reflection.

I am willing to negotiate other arrangements including group supervision sessions and Skype.
Supervisory Framework:	My approach to supervision is to create a warm, safe and professional environment in which supervisees are supported to explore their work context and are nurtured in their ministry role. I recognise the need to attend to the normative, formative and restorative tasks of supervision, and seek to this creatively and in ways that recognise preferred learning styles. I am strongly influenced by the Hawkins and Shohet Seven-Eyed Model of professional supervision which invites a collaborative response to the social, ethical, and interpersonal dynamics of any ministry situation. My qualifications and experience are diverse, offering wide ranging perspectives on contemporary issues affecting ministry. I am an avid and life-long learner and am committed to supervision for myself in my own various ministry roles, including that of professional supervisor. Cost - $90 per each 60 minute session or negotiated. I encourage supervisees to arrange congregation/employer to cover the cost of professional supervision.

Supervisory Framework:	I have been in ministry, lay and ordained for 35 years and strongly believe in the importance of regular supervision as an aid to understanding “how/who I am in ministry” and keeping a work-life balance. An important part of my practice is active listening, understanding where we store our stress and how to move it out of our bodies and what resources we have to help us with that.
Qualifications:	B.Th. InterPlay Leader 25 years’ experience in Chaplaincy in – <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>•Police</li> <li>•Emergency Services</li> <li>•Hospital</li> <li>•Aged Care; Retreat Leadership and Spiritual Direction</li> </ul>

Supervisory Framework:	Supervision provides a great opportunity for learning and growth within a supportive, non-judgemental environment. It encourages self-reflection, transformational learning and both personal and professional development.  As a supervisor, I draw on a number of different models and tools in order to collaboratively support supervisees to: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• reflect on and process workplace/ministry experiences;</li> <li>• grow in confidence and competence in their professional role;</li> <li>• discover strengths and potential growth areas;</li> <li>• maintain healthy boundaries and self-care practices;</li> <li>• maximise learning experiences from supervision.</li> </ul>
Qualifications:	I have 20 years counselling experience and have worked in private practice as an accredited mental health social worker for approximately 9 years.  As a supervisor I have worked with a range of people from various professional backgrounds over the last 11 years, and currently provide both individual and group supervision to a number of professionals and leaders within community and church based environments.  My qualifications include: Bachelor of Social Work (Hons) from Newcastle University Advanced Diploma in Christian Counselling & Family Therapy (AIFC) Post Graduate Certificate in Professional Supervision (Clinical) St Marks

Rev Dr Peter Oliver

Contact:	Mobile: 0432 849 191 Email: rovingpo@gmail.com	Supervision Locations:	Skype is an option but prefer to travel for example to Sydney or Wollongong and well as the Hunter Area.
Supervisory Framework:	Outreaching with and caring for, people in the context of Christian community have specific demands and pitfalls. As clergy the work/life balance takes on a particularly demanding dimension in relating to family laity and church hierarchy. Supervisors help the supervisee to safely examine their ministry with parishioners and others outside the church highlighting affirmations and alternative possibilities. Theologising about God's presence and spiritual dynamics in the ambiguity of life gives a framework within which Christian workers can reflect on ways in which the spirit of God is at work in very concrete and contemporary situations.  My style of supervising emphasises mutuality, creativity and nurture. I would hope that the supervisee will grow in their ability to supervise themselves between supervisory sessions and that the time spent together would be real and supportive. The self-disclosure of my own journey in times of struggle and success will contribute to the trust required in this important relationship. I have extensive library resources which I would be happy to share. Apologetics and gender issues are interests of mine in which have done some research. I look forward to meeting those that would see their journey in ministry and humanity to be enhanced by this fellow traveller.
Qualifications:	Ordained in the Uniting Church in 1980 I have served four parishes – three in the hunter.  Studying psychology at master's level and experience as a chaplain at two psychiatric hospitals has given me practical experience and intellectual awareness of human dynamics.  I have also had a year as trainer and counsellor for Lifeline.  I have supervised Christian counsellors and ministers from various denominations and am on the NSW Synod Committee for Counselling having helped the Assembly Committee to establish protocols for when accusations of abuse arise.  I have trained over forty people in Clinical Pastoral Education over the past ten years and have lectured in courses in youth worship and supervision at the United Theological College and the Pastoral Care Institute.  At present I enjoy a diversity of ministries. Training and assessing Newcastle medical students in counselling and sexuality is very rewarding and I am also a work place counsellor for Converge International (previously ITIM). In that capacity I have been called in to debrief critical incidents as an employee assistance provider.  I am the Uniting Church Chaplain at John Hunter Hospital and am a Board Member of Spiritual Care Australia (previously Australian Health and Welfare Chaplains Association).  I am a conjoint lecturer for the medical faculty of Newcastle University.

Supervisory Framework:	My approach to supervision is to offer a safe place of listening, to encourage reflection on areas of work and life that may challenge or stimulate, and so to foster learning and growth. It is about discovering more about ourselves and recognizing how we may continue to develop our skills at every stage of life.  My background as a mental health chaplain makes me very aware of human vulnerability and strength. I enjoy working with, and learning from people of many different cultural backgrounds.
Qualifications:	M.A., Cert. Ed, Cert. in Education of the deaf and partially hearing Diploma in Counselling, B.Th. Hons, Member Australasian Association of Supervision, Member Transforming Practices Inc.

Supervisory Framework:	Essentially the pattern I use is based on the Wellbeing of the supervisee. In this instance wellbeing as a person; wellbeing as a minister; and wellbeing of the relationship with God.  I try to exercise active listening. I expect the supervisee to nominate issues that are operating for them. I don't submit reports to presbytery unless I am asked for comments and with the agreement of the minister.  Since retiring I have accepted payment usually equivalent to the casual preaching fee. I only accept payment if the supervisee is being reimbursed for their supervision by their placement. This is not often.

Supervisory Framework:	My model of supervision is based on a strengths coaching model, seeking to help people to develop their skill-sets while also addressing areas of problematic functioning. I utilise a number of models from positive psychology, working in a collaborative manner and tend to be strategic and goal-oriented. However, I am also comfortable working with areas of dysfunction.
Qualifications:	I am a registered psychologist (clinical endorsement) and work in private practice. I am also involved in the psychological assessment of ordination candidates for a number of denominations in Sydney.  I have lectured in pastoral care at a number of theological colleges and get to speak to a variety of church and community groups on subjects such as stress, mental health, relationships, and parenting. My most recent research (clinical masters) focused on burnout and depression in ministry staff (using the leadership data from the NCLS).  I am currently supervising people working as counsellors as well as supporting a number of people involved in full-time ministry settings.

Supervisory Framework:	I work from a model I first began developing 1984. The ideas can be found in my book, Story Whispering: An introduction to Biblical-Narrative Therapy (2013). It is a narrative model integrated with attachment theory.  In the supervision my goal is to work respectfully with the story of the other person as they describe what it is they are doing in ministry. Together we look at the story as the container of the wisdom, and as a team, allow the story to teach us what directions ministry can take. A critical element in the method is to stay curious rather than irritated and to never try and 'understand' the story but let the story teach its own meaning. The willingness to stay 'ignorant' until the story reveals what needs to be known is another important element. A number of biblical narratives inform the method and give participants a framework within which to address issues; for example, the story of the exodus challenges participants to move in a 'Mosaic' way into mystery waiting for 'quail to arrive', rather than building 'golden calf of certainty' in their work; consequently, faith and mystery dominates over dogma.
Qualifications:	I am a psychologist registered in Australia.  I am a clinical member of the Australian and New Zealand Association for the Treatment of Sexual Abuse.  I am clinically accredited with the New South Wales Child Sex Offender Counsellor's Accreditation scheme to work with adults.  I am an accredited supervisor with the Australian and New Zealand Association for Clinical Pastoral Education.  Prior to training as a psychologist I spent many years developing educational programs for families as part of my work as a parish minister. This included a significant amount of family support, mediating family conflict and addressing the stress of death and dying issues.

Supervisory Framework:	Supervision provides the opportunity to reflect on pastoral practice and to develop insights into your ministry, greater awareness of the place of faith and values in your work. It also enables you to reflect on the social and cultural context in which you work, and to reflect theologically on your practice, how you relate to others in your ministry or workplace, and what you discover about yourself and the other. You set your own learning goals and we focus on those goals and your learning in your practice, enabling greater insights and effectiveness, greater understanding of your role and growth in spiritual and pastoral identity. This is done in a non-judgemental atmosphere. It is a form of transformative education.

Supervisory Framework:	Supervision gives us an opportunity to reflect upon our practice, in this to become more aware of what we noticed at the edges of our practice, to wonder, to grow in our awareness of self and others, to explore our theology. Through supervision we are enabled to develop our capacity to connect with others.
Qualifications:	For the past 18 years I have managed the CPE Centre at St Vincent's Hospital, Sydney. In this role I have conducted CPE programs and provided education seminars and supervision to people working in Pastoral / Spiritual Care. I am an accredited Level 2 CPE Supervisor with the NSW College of Clinical Pastoral Education. I have a Masters in Counselling and a Masters of Arts (Specialising in Pastoral Supervision). I completed a Bachelor of Theology in 1996.

Supervisory Framework:	I work from a strengths-based person-centred model of supervision. I do so from within my own grounding as a Christian person while respecting the spiritual stance of the supervisee. My supervisory framework is invitational offering the opportunity to engage in reflective practice that includes and explores theological reflection from the supervisee's perspective and their unique identity as a pastoral person. Supervision would within an agreed supervisory relationship and focus on the professional and personal learning goals of the supervisee. I would also allow for reflection on the context and circumstances of their present life and ministry. The aim of my supervision is to provide a safe space within which the supervisee can grow as a person in ministry and develop skills, knowledge and attitudes that support healthy ministry. Supervision can be transformative.
Qualifications:	I am an ordained Baptist minister presently employed as the Coordinating Chaplain in the Central Coast Local Health District where I have worked for the past four years. Before my current ministry I was an Army Chaplain for thirty years. I have extensive experience and training in coordination, mentoring and supervising of clergy from broad denominational and multi-faith backgrounds. Presently I am 81 points into a 108 point MA (Pastoral Supervision) programme. I am able to provide suitable references if required.
